

Environmental Services: Food Hygiene Inspection Ratings

It is required by law that all premises that serve, prepare or sell food are inspected by authorised officers.

Routine visits are made to premises, most often on an unannounced basis, ranging from the small local traders to large national and multinational companies.

The frequency of inspection depends on the level of risk associated with the type of premises, volume of trade and officer assessment.

The higher risk premises typically include supermarkets, restaurants, take-away's, mobile caterers, public houses serving food, butchers, bakeries, slaughterhouses, residential care homes and hospitals.

Lower risk premises typically include small grocery stores, newsagents and off-licences.

The risk assessment includes rating the food premises specific practices and processes. This individual assessment covers compliance with Food Hygiene Safety, Structure and Confidence in management.

Assessments in each case rate the premises from 'poor standards' to 'achieving high standards'.

This document focuses on these assessments, via a Star rating, highlighting those that are achieving high standards with 3 stars.

Star Ratings Key

* * *	Achieving high standard of food safety and legal compliance. Good practice is being followed. Possible minor legal contraventions.
* *	Satisfactory standard of food safety compliance. Some minor legal contraventions. Premises is in the top 50% of businesses.
*	Some major non compliances, improvement in standards required
NO STARS	Poor standards, Formal action may be taken.

Star ratings are published for premises inspected since 01/04/2007

The information shown here reflects the conditions found at the premises on the date of inspection. It is possible that conditions will have changed since the date of last inspection. The information should not be a recommendation or condemnation of a premises or food business.
